THE HOSPITAL DISPUTE.

The Conferees Asked to State for Which Institution They Intended to Appropriate. No decision has yet been arrived at by Suron General Robert Murray, of the army, as to the disposition of the appropriation of $15,000 for the care and support of seventy-five transient sick pampers during the fiscal year, a part of which is claimed by the managers of the Garneld hospital, and which has in former years been paid to the Providence bospital. Murray returned to the city yesterday ing, and during the day visited both hos-and made a thorough inspection of the ties of section

D. Altriay returned to the city yesteriay.

D. Altriay and during the day visited both hospitals and made a thorough inspection of the racilities of each.

He said to a Retunition reporter that Garfield bospital proposes to set apart awardly or theirly of its thirty-four beds for the unprocess of the appropriations, while Providence has an interest of the appropriations, while Providence has an interest of the appropriations of the appropriations are revolved for, and more; and the latter has actually, in fact, annually received and cared for a larger number than the appropriations have ever provided for, the Garfield hospital is new and spiendidly appointed, but the Providence also has every constort needed, and the experience of twenty years proves that the patients have been well cared for. He wanted to learn, before making the necessary contract, the real intention of congress, as defined by the opinions of the house and senate. The bouse, as is well known, named Providence hospital in the appropriation bill, but the name was stricken out in the senate, and he understands from the house made senate, and he conference that it was understood that the alteration was only to leave the wording of the bull as it has been for ten years past, and that the money was intended for Providence hospital as usual.

If the senate conferees concur that this was the understanding, the whole appropriation will of course go to the Providence hospital, which has fallinding illed the contract for years, but if they disagree in that opinion, he will ailot a smaller proportion to Garfield hospital. He would not say that he has privately made up his mind on the subject, but the conversation led the reporter to believe that he formed the idea that Providence was meant by the bill, and deserves the award. The decision will be made by the last of this week, as the contract must be entered into before the expiration of July.

stated to a reporter of The Empirican that as long as the government had deemed it necessary to indict him, he would have much preferred if it had found it convenient to give him a trial, for which he had repeatedly urred. If it had been done he was fully satisfied he could have established his immocence, and that he had neither intended or committed wrong, much less violated law. The indictments had him over him for two years, much to his injury, and if some that action had not been taken he would have lost his position. While he did not get the reparation to which he was entitled, still he must be content with the virtual admission on the part of the prosecution that the government was without a case against him.

Worthington, yesterday entered suit against J. G. P. Burnside, as principal, and N. L. Jefries as surety; also against Eliza C. Hutchinson, executrix of the estate of Hayward M. Hutchinson, and Robert G. Ingersoil, administrator of the estate of Elon C. Ingersoil, to recover $10,660, the amount of the bond given for Col. Burnside as distursing officer of the postoffice department for the honest and faithful discharge of his duties. He having defaulted in that respect, the bond is now such to recover the full amount of the same. Mr. Jeffries is the only one of the sureties living, and it became necessary to bring separate suits in the other two cases against the respective estates.

THE LOVERS TRIUMPH.

Bridal Couple, of Two Colors, are Arrested and Released by the Police. Jesse Plater, dark ginger colored, and fit earsold, and Helen Owens, white, and 34 earsold, both of Anne Arundel county, Md., stained a license to marry at the clerk's office yesterday afternoon, and are doubtless by this time enjoying their honeymoon. On the road to matrimonial happiness, however, by this time enjoying their honeymoen. On the road to matrimonial happiness, however, these two not too young but very tender hearts found some extremely rough spots to cross. The lady who wanted to be a bride, and she wanted to very much indeed, has a brother-ir-law mamed Dr. Henry Richardson, at Bristol station. Md., who objected to her marriage with the mulatto, who had been a laborer on his farm.

When the lovers run away, therefore, Monday night, the destro, evidently with the notion that to marry was a crime, telegraphed to the police of this city to look out for them. Officer Prather, who must have had similar notions about the criminality of marriage, gave chose and caught the pair yesterlay norning at the house of a colored man much Brent at Bonning's station. He brought them to the police headquarters in this city, but upon what warrant or for what offense nobody has yet been able to dissaver. The police authorities kept the couple in charge all day, and it did not seem to occur to them until quite late in the afternoon that they were meddling with affairs which did not at all concern them. There was no complaint against the couple except that made by a man in Maryland, who did not like what the couple were noing to do, although they had a perfect right to do it as there was no law against it. The authorities were maturally at a loss what to do under the circumstances, but imally the bright thought occurred to them of letting the couple of a couple of doctors to examine the woman to see if she might not possibly be insine or something, although this indicate the minds of the authorities, as no one who knew her had not lifed them that there was anything the matter with the woman's mind.

that there was anything the matter with the woman's mind.

The doctors found that Miss Owens was perfectly same, and size and the bridegroom-elect were permitted to go free. Not being of a revengeful deposition, and having only in mind the project of marrying each other, they did not begin suit for false imprisonment and molicious prosecution sizalist the police authorities who had unlawfully held them prisoners for several hours, but went directly to the clerk's office and secured a license, only regretting that one day had been lost.

The min: was not attractive in appearance, He was tall and guant and very homely. They were devoted to each other and determined to marry. They said they had known each other for twelve years, and had been engaged to be married for a mouth. When they had obtained the license they started at once for Bennings to find a minister to marry them.

THE SPEED OF TRAINS. No Decision in the Engineer Cases-Proposi tion to Fence in the Tracks. The argument in the cases of Robert Rumley and S. Beali was continued in the police court yesterday. They were charged with running trains through the city faster than six miles an hour. Mr. Forrest, for the district, said that the case was for running trains through the city on the Metropolitan branch. He rethe understanding, the whole appropriation will of course go to the Providence hospital, which has falliably filled the contract for years; but if they disagree in that opinion, he will allot a smaller proportion to Garield hospital. He would not say that he has privately made up his mind on the subject, but the conversation led the reporter to believe that he farmed the idea that Providence was meant by the bill, and deserves the award. The decision will be made by the last of this week, as the contract must be entered into before the expiration of July.

THE STRAW BOND CASES.

The Case Against Charles Dickson Dismissed—Statement of Mr. Dickson.
The cases of Charles H. Dickson, indicted on the charges of perjury and conspiracy in March, 1882, in what is known as the straw bond cases, an account of which was recently published in The Refunican, were yesterday noile prosequied in the criminal court. Assistant District Autorney Taggart said that the mixtion was made by direction of the department of Justice, where the cases had been carefully reviewed. Mr. Dickson stand to a reporter of This Republican had been carefully reviewed. Mr. Dickson stand to a reporter of This Republican had been carefully reviewed. Mr. Dickson hat feel the commany to the law as the lighter court is not now in session, and would greatly inconvenience to decision.

The commissioners held a consultation with Mr. R. T. Merrick, afterney for the Baltimore sion, agreed to let the case stand over until today for a decision.

The commissioners held a consultation with Mr. R. T. Metrick, attorney for the Baltimore and Ohlo railway company, yesterday, in regard to the recent ascident and the rate of speed trains should be run in the city limits.
The subject was discussed for a long time, and the decisions of the courts in this city on the subject were presented. The decision of Judge Cox in the case of Kuight vs. the Baltimore and Potomac railway, which held that the act passed by the legislature of this district was illegal and vold, and the decision of Judge Snell were taken as authorities.

Mr. Metrick thought that a compromise could be arranged, and after considering the subject the commissioners proposed that the railway company lense in their tracks, as the Baltimore and Potomac railway have done, in addition to letting down gates at street crossings, and other safeguards. Mr. Metrick thought that the railway company would agree to these propositions, and promised to lay the matter before it.

FRENCHY ROSS SENTENCED.

He Gets Five Years in the Penitentlary and a Lecture From Judge Wylle.

The motion for a new trial in the case of "Frenchy" R. Ross, convicted of manslaughter in the killing of Isaac Tinney, came on fir hearing in the criminal court yesterialy before rudge Wylle, Assistant District Autorney Taggart appearing for the government and Mr. T. J. Mackey for the defendant.

After hearing the exceptions and argument on gart appearing for the government and Mr. T.

J. Mackey for the defendant.

After hearing the exceptions and argument on behalf of the prisoner, Judge Wylle overruled the mition, directed the prisoner to stand up, and asked if he had anything to say why son-tence should not be passed.

Ross begged for the mercy of the court, asked for the lowest sentence the court could give, and said that it was his first offense. Judge Wylle said that he had been livily tried and convicted. At one time there was a doubt in the mind of the court as to whether it was not murder. He had heard the story of the prisoner and to him it seemed incredible to say the least. There was one circumstance to which no reference was made diving the progress of the trial, which was that the kinfle found in the pocket of the defendant was a new one, apparently had not been used and there was no blood stains upon it. He thought it probable that this was exchanged, for the one used, while the prisoner was at his brother's home. The testimony was that the knife had been turned round in the wound and it seemed strange to him that with such a wound and under the electronsances no stain should appear on the knife.

"He says that he washed it off," interrupted Mr. Mackey.

Then it must have been carefully washed."

should appear on the knife.

"He says that he washed it off," interripted Mr. Mackey.

"Then it must have been carefully washed." replied the judge, and, continuing, said to Ross: "This is the result of the life you led. On the trial you opened the door to your character, and it led to damaging results on the other side. It seems that you had no desire for honest work, no aspirations for anything that was knownable or respectable but a life with low and debauched women, where crime is certain."

The judge then sentenced Ross to five years at hard labor in the Albany peniteniary.

"That sentence," said, Mr. Mackey, recognizes justice and mercy.

"I made this sertence comparatively light," said the judge to Ross, "because the man killed was running in the same society as your self."

The execution of the sentence was suspended, and Mr. Mackey is to decide whether or not he will carry the ease up on appeal.
